Curricula at Pallavi International School Gandipet

Pallavi International School offers both CBSE (Central Board of Secondary Education) and Cambridge curricula, students can experience two distinct educational frameworks, each with its own approach to teaching and learning.

CBSE Curriculum

The CBSE curriculum, developed by the Government of India, is widely recognized throughout the country, and it holds significant credibility in the international educational landscape as well. Many universities and institutions worldwide recognize CBSE qualifications, enabling students to pursue higher education abroad.

This curriculum adheres to a standardized framework intended to encourage holistic development. It emphasizes a healthy mix of academics, extracurricular activities, and personal development. It emphasizes critical thinking, problem-solving abilities, and a solid foundation in fundamental courses including mathematics, science, social studies, and languages.

Cambridge Curriculum

The Cambridge curriculum, designed by the University of Cambridge International Examinations (CIE), is known worldwide for its high academic standards and emphasis on autonomous learning. It provides a wide and balanced education that encourages students to delve deeply into subjects while learning skills such as research, analysis, and communication.

The Cambridge Board is highly regarded and recognized in India and worldwide which allows Cambridge students to apply to prestigious universities and institutions across the globe. Cambridge students often find that their training allows them to easily choose to pursue courses of their interest within the country. Cambridge schools frequently prioritize foreign perspectives and offer pupils the opportunity to seek advanced level degrees such as the Cambridge foreign AS and A Levels.

The school meets a wide range of educational needs and interests by offering both the CBSE and Cambridge curricula. Students can benefit from a well-rounded education that draws on the qualities of both systems, equipping them for further studies and future endeavors in an increasingly competitive and linked world. Furthermore, such a design allows students to smoothly shift between multiple educational courses based on their unique interests and goals.
